Seaforth World Naval Review, 2017

Synopsis

This annual has an established reputation as an authoritative but affordable summary of all that has happened in the naval world in the previous twelve months. It combines regional surveys with major articles on noteworthy new ships and other important developments. Besides the latest warship projects, it also looks at wider issues of importance to navies, such as aviation and electronics, and calls on expertise from around the globe to give a balanced picture of current events and to interpret their significance. This edition includes an in-depth analysis of the Royal Netherlands Navy, while the section on Significant Ships will cover the USNâ€™s radical new Zumwalt-class destroyers, the Republic of Koreaâ€™s amphibious assault ship Dokdo, and the JMSDFâ€™s Akizuki-class destroyers, among others. There are technological reviews on naval aviation by David Hobbs (with a focus on the present state of the Royal Navyâ€™s Fleet Air Arm), while Norman Friedman surveys naval surface-to-surface missiles. The Seaforth World Naval Review features specially commissioned drawings and the most up-to-date photographs and artistsâ€™ impressions. For those interested in contemporary naval affairsâ€”whether enthusiast or defense professionalâ€”this annual has become required reading.
